Local Oddfellows Hold Successful Social

Cliff Hall never presented a more festive appearance than it did last evening for the social evening put on by the local Oddfellows lodge. The committee in charge went to considerable trouble decorating the hall but trouble at the building, from the time entered it, gave one the feeling that something out of the ordinary was in store. Red, white and blue draperies were used and these were most artistically arranged, making a most pleasing effect.

The hall was well filled for the occasion and from the opening waltz to the Home Sweet Home air entered heartily into many pleasures of the program. In this there was a great variety and many novel features were introduced by Eugene Conn, who acted as director of ceremonies. Among these were an arch waltz, an apple paring, moonlight waltz and spot waltz. The biggest surprise was sprung in the apple paring event, as announced the lady holding the apple when the music stopped, was to stand at the front of the hall and eat the apple. As the music was drawing to the close here there was great surrizing to get rid of the apple, but great disappointment provided when Miss Pendergast, the lucky apple holder, was instead of being asked to eat the apple, presented with a fine large box of chocolates. Similar surprises were sprung in the other specialties.

Then there was the music. It was well said a kind that the waltzes danced in their lives, but the waltzes were those dancing kind that young and old feel as though they were those floating through the air, and a sense of trouble in the world would be made to melt away. The waltzes were so full of pep that the dancers were again brought to the step lively to catch a place in the great round of waltzes.

On the whole it was an ideal evening and the dance and the singing about midnight, served to further reward money for the balance of the program. The committee in charge deserve great praise for the success of the evening.

Appropriate Prizes at St. Ambrose Social

The periodical social evenings at St. Ambrose Parish Hall are now much popular and are anxiously looked forward to by young and old. The one held last Thursday evening was again well attended and the appropriate prizes offered for the contest were created more than the usual interest. The first ladies prize of two pounds of sugar was won by Mrs. W. McCreary while Jim Kerr did off with the second prize of one pound of sugar. P. Lavette tied for the prize for the best out on the best. Miss E. Johnson and A. Collier carried home the trophies.

Afterwards a musical program was rendered and dancing indulged in. Thus another successful social evening passed into history.

There will be another of these popular social evenings held next Monday February 16th.

S.A. Officials Pay Visit to Redcliff

Com. and Mrs. Rich, Dr. Dickson, Social Secretary, Major Harker of Regina, Major Penfold, Calgary, A.G. Marshall, Lethbridge, En. and Mrs. Sharp, Capt. and Mrs. Berford, and many others from Medicine Hat, were among the Salvation Army visitors here last Friday afternoon.

During the afternoon a meeting was held in Gordon Memorial Church when stirring addresses were delivered by some of the above mentioned officers.

Glass Plant Will Open March 2nd

It will be good news to the people of Redcliff to learn that the Dominion Glass Plant, which has been closed for the past few months, will open up for business again on March 2nd.

On that date the little furnace for the making glass chimes, lantern globes and small bottles will be put in operation. This will give employment to between fifty and sixty men. It is hoped that with this start it will not be long until this plant resumes its old time activities in all departments. The operation of this plant has a big influence on conditions generally in town.

Wood Opposed to Embargo of Wheat

H. W. Wood, president of the Alberta wheat pool and the U. S. Farmers' Union, has expressed little faith in the efficacy of an export duty placed upon Canadian wheat. He objects to Canadian wheat being made the football in a tariff war between the United States and Great Britain. "In the first place," said Mr. Wood, "I am not a protectionist. If I were I do not see how the price of our wheat could be raised by an export duty. Some of our wheat is going through the United States and whatever you may say about the obstructions the United States has put in the channel, it is still a channel, and an export duty would make it a more difficult one. It could not possibly facilitate the selling of our wheat on the other hand," said Mr. Wood, "the government wants to encourage the export of wheat and to put on a tariff upon wheat with the United States would be an incoherent and an inoffensive wheat the football in the game. They are selling their product that is already sold by the world. Every legitimate wheat grower in western Canada is interested in the price the farmer receives for his wheat, and such every one of them should protect against any obstruction being thrown between himself and a market."

The grain commission's report says that export duties are not to be depressed the exceptional situation that exists in this business might warrant such an import.

Home Bank Officials Go to Reformatory

Richard P. Gough, Vice-President of the Home Bank of Canada who was found guilty on six counts of charges and under the Bank Act in connection with the failure of that institution, in August, 1924, was sentenced by Judge Emerson, Coatsworth, last Tuesday morning, to one year in the reformatory, on one year one day, indeterminate, in the Ontario Reformatory.

P. M. Stewart, director, who was found guilty on one count of negligently causing a "false statement" was sentenced to one month in the provincial reformatory, on one year one day, indeterminate, in the Ontario Reformatory.

H. Casey Wood, R. C. of Toronto, who was found guilty of negligently causing in the false statement, was sentenced to one month in the reformatory, on one year one day, indeterminate, in the Ontario Reformatory.

J. F. Russell, another director, is on suspended sentence.

MANITOBA TO HAVE BIG SUGAR FACTORY

Application is reported to have been made to the Manitoba Government for the incorporation of the Manitoba Sugar Company, with a capitalization of $1,000,000. The new company will be a beet sugar proposition and arrangements will be made to encourage the growing of sugar beets throughout the Red River Valley on large scale.

Hat Gives Majority For Oil Proposition

The vote on the plebiscite submitted to the voters on the question of the decision on whether or not the proposition submitted to the city by Mr. Hugh to drill a test well for oil on the city's holdings, resulted in a majority of 616 votes in favor of the city's proposition, and a majority of 373 against it.

The total poll was 1,062, there being 989 for and 373 against.

Investment Companies Oppose Rural Credit

John Appleton, secretary treasurer of the Dominion Mortgage and Investment Association, the member committee of which are the lenders of money on mortgage in Canada, stated that the Dominion Government has prepared a memorandum to be presented to the Dominion government at an early date regarding the proposed rural credit under the federal farm loan board, which the investment companies, suggested in the farming industry in that country the investment companies, said Mr. Appleton, "are that there is no necessity for a Dominion government rural credit system in Canada, and that there had been such a scheme in existence during recent years, not only the United States but also Canada have seen in a worse position than they are today, but great losses would have been incurred by the government, while the investment companies have been out of the taxes of the people."

FARMERS SHOULD HAVE ONE DOMINION BODY

At the concluding session of the United Farmers of Quebec conference in Montreal, J. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers of Canada, suggested in an address that it is high time agricultural organizations in Canada should take advantage of their provincial organizations to merge into one solid body for the purpose of representing the farmers in the Dominion government.

Mr. Morrison said, "there was no reason why the farmers should not have the wealth of their industry yet they employed middlemen for marketing purposes. Co-operating societies should be instituted, and the lack of the phase of the industry was the industry as a whole."

Rabbit Drive on in Bow City District

P. H. Wedderburn is at present in charge of the first rabbit drive of the provincial department, to take charge of a rabbit drive in that district. It appears the rabbits are so numerous in that district, they are located by the inspector, General Bell, being made to get rid of them.

So far Mr. Wedderburn has located four thousand averaging from one to two thousand rabbits in each, and he says he has never seen such a sight in his life. They are more or less concentrated and are present on the open prairie. With good luck it is hoped to clear up the large colonies in short order. Run ways and corrals are being arranged to round the rabbits up and it is expected that everything will be in readiness to start the drive at Bow City, east of Lethbridge, next Saturday.

It is estimated that the province has increased number of rabbits in some districts, great damage is being done.

Exports of Alberta products direct from the province to points in the United States totalled in value $6,822,919 in such volume with a total value of $4,388,448 in the previous year, according to the report prepared by S. C. Reed, American Consul at Edmonton.

Inspection of Local Militia Last Night

The training season for the "C" company of the First Alberta Regiment was brought to a close last night when General Bell and staff visited the local armory to inspect the company. Officers and men were in excellent form for the inspection. After going through several drills as suggested by the inspector, General Bell, addressed a few remarks to the men. He complimented both officers and men for the excellent showing they had made and said the town was exceedingly fortunate in having such a fine lot of young men interested in the work.

Although nothing was said about the shield which is now up for competition, the general opinion is that other competitors will have to come to remove it from Redcliff.

The general and staff left for Medicine Hat immediately after the inspection.

BOWELL NOTES

Miss Margaret Davidson and Mr. Severn Olsen spent last Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. J. D. Darragh, Miss Phyllis Smith and Mr. W. W. Darragh.

Mr. Darragh, Miss Phyllis Smith and Mr. W. W. Darragh were the guests of Mrs. E. W. Ponceat last Sunday afternoon.

Messrs. Darragh, Day and Fern have shipped a car load of fine horses to Mr. W. H. Housat, purchasing a fine lot of horses for driving harness recently.

Aubrey Day is securing a large cow barn and intends to go extensively in the dairy business.

Mr. Joseph Darragh made a business trip to Medicine Hat on Saturday.

Mr. Harold Campbell received quite a complimentary response when he sent a mail order for a pair of ladies' wear.

The recent chink which filled the Bowell pond with water has made an excellent record and now skaling is the order of the day.

Mr. Joe Darragh and Mr. Harold Campbell are busy with the work of holding a hygienic show in the Bowell millpond in the near future. Watch the column for the details.

We wish to draw the attention of our readers to the very rough condition of Durrace Ave. leading to Creechview. We have been made aware of it, drawn at least four times a week as we are the near neighborhood.

ALBERTA COAL PRODUCTION

Alberta's total coal production in 1924 was 5,200,713 tons, a decrease from the previous year, when the production was a million and a half tons greater. The decrease was due to the prolonged strike, but the month of November, following the conclusion of the strike, was the biggest month in the history of the industry when 803,657 tons were produced. The total production for the year was 5,200,713 tons, or the year was 5,200,713 tons, or the year was 5,200,713 tons.

A considerable increase in revenue from the motor and gasoline and other taxes for 1924 is noted in the report of the Provincial Secretary. The following are the figures:

Motor taxes $847,652.60 $742,652.60
Gasoline tax $1,106.15 $1,247.77
Corporation tax $52,122.20 $47,609.28
Amusement tax $92,607.33 $99,992.47

That seems to be the general estimate of the members who have taken the trouble to read the report. The figures which are based on this report, and which have been drafted by the leader, will meet with considerable discussion.

Local N.C.O's Hold Smoker Last Night

Despite the other counter attractions the smoker put on at the G. W. V. A. last night by the local militia was well attended and proved most successful.

The smoker was held as a fitting reply to the training season and followed the inspection held earlier in the evening by General Bell.

A good program of songs, short stories, addresses, etc., was prepared for the evening and everything went off with the same vigor with which the militia is now noted.

Canada Cuts From Atlantic Commerce

The Canadian government merchant marine has withdrawn from the North Atlantic shipping competition, according to the House of Commons last Monday afternoon, according to G. F. Graham, minister of railways, when asked what would be the effect of the withdrawal of the ships of Sir William Pendergast, which are being subsidized by the Canadian government in an effort to bring down costs.

Mr. Graham explained that the Canadian government merchant marine had withdrawn from the North Atlantic conference within the past year and that it was not subject to the rates made by that body. Some remarks were made by Mr. Graham, which the merchant marine and the shipping industry will be greatly interested in.

In commenting on his report Mr. Francis O'Brien, the member for the Atlantic coast, said that the withdrawal of the ships of Sir William Pendergast, which are being subsidized by the Canadian government in an effort to bring down costs.

Grain Commission's Report in House

Members of parliament and more particularly western members spent much time in going carefully over the preliminary report of the Grain Commission, which was presented to the House of Commons last night.

The general impression is that it is a most valuable report. It does suggest, but not recommends, an export duty on wheat going into United States.

THE OIL SITUATION

COL. Rossiter, who has been in Medicine Hat for the past few weeks in connection with the Roth oil drilling proposition, gave some interesting information on the geology and oil possibilities of this district. Among other things he said that no oil state in the United States had a continuous gas field nine miles wide and thirteen miles long, such as was the case in this immediate vicinity. He further pointed out that in states where oil was found, gas, of a similar nature to that found here, was encountered, and after getting through the gas, oil was struck. It will be remembered by some here that shortly before the outbreak of war, geologists from various oil states to the south visited this district and made the same pronouncements regarding conditions and prospects for oil here. It will also be remembered by some that these same geologists, after carefully going over this whole district, picked on right here in Redcliff, almost within hailing distance of this office, as the most likely spot in this gas belt for being reasonably sure of getting oil.

Indeed if it had not been for the war we had reason to believe that the finding of these geologists would have been followed up by putting their opinions to test.

This being the case the time may not be far distant when present and prospective experimenting may bring the real Alberta oil boom right to our own back door.

SUPPORT SPORT

WE understand a movement is on foot to start a golf club in town. This is a move in the right direction. In fact it would be a good thing for the town if a better interest were taken in all lines of sport and amusements. Nothing contributes more to the success of any community than to have its people happy and contented, and nothing tends more to bring about that condition than the furnishing of a means of enjoyably pass away the leisure hours of its people.

Now a days every town of any size has a golf club and there is no more easy and pleasant way of entertaining friends than by introducing them to a round of this sociable game. It is also a splendid way of getting business men together when advantage can be taken of the opportunity to discuss local conditions along all lines pertaining to the welfare of the community.

The movement should be enthusiastically supported by all who have the interests of the community at heart.

Nor should our enthusiasm end with golf. Every line of summer sport should be encouraged and supported. For the past few years those who have been instrumental in keeping a football team in the league, have experienced all kinds of difficulties, not only in keeping a team together, but in financing it. With a little more per capita support on the part of both players and public Redcliff could have one of the best football teams in the district.

Let us get ready now to start this coming season off with the happiest to goodness efforts to place ourselves on the map again.

To lend one's time, talents, energies and money to help create more congenial and lively conditions, is but casting bread upon the waters. It will return to you fifty, sixty and hundred fold; in pleasure, happiness and even money.

THERE IS A REASON

FIVE constituencies in Alberta now want Hon. Chas. Stewart as their Liberal candidate in the next Dominion-general election. How times have changed. A few years ago Hon. Charles went begging for an Alberta seat and couldn't get one. Now he can get five that he knows of and there are no doubt others which would gladly adopt Mr. Stewart.

Alberta is evidently beginning to realize that it is not good business to raise up and train a good man then hand him over to another province to reap the benefit. It is not only in politics that this practice is working out to the detriment of Alberta. Professional and business men and women in all walks of life are being educated and trained at Alberta's expense only to be induced to other provinces and other countries because of more inviting opportunities and remuneration, brought about largely by the appreciation of the people of the other province and their desire to secure the best.

There is probably no line in which this is more noticeable than in the teaching profession. At the present time it is estimated that it costs this province $500 to turn out a qualified school teacher. It is stated authoritatively that for a number of years past Alberta teachers are either leaving the province or abandoning the profession in astonishing large numbers annually. There must be a reason for this, and the sooner that reason is acknowledged and steps taken to remedy it, the better for the province and its people.

The action of a few thoughtful ladies in town in arranging to have milk served to children in the lower grades at school during the recess period, is indeed most commendable. It also speaks for the interest the teachers in those grades are taking in the children, in bringing this matter to the attention of those most likely to take some action in the matter. Parents concerned should be, and no doubt are, deeply grateful to those responsible for this movement. They should give every assistance and encouragement to help make this practice a success. There is no doubt that the children will benefit in many ways by it.

Of the many crimes one reads about these days, how often it happens that the crime was the outcome of the desire of an idle woman or man for a change; of the excitement; something to pass away the time. This desire led to a mild flirtation, followed by a car drive, a petting party, or a cabaret dance. One of the parties in the drama took it seriously and the whole thing ended in murder or worse. Playing with love or loosening the sacred cords of fidelity are about as dangerous as flirting with gun powder.

During the present session of the federal house, parliament will consider the equalization of freight rates, settlement of the Peace River, Senate reforms and other amendments to the B.N.A. act. If parliament would only settle the freight rates question it could call it a day and go home. The others could wait.

NEW BOOK MAKES ROMANCE OF HISTORY

Tells Story of Canadian Pacific Railway and Building of Dominion

A fascinating American one referred to the Canadian Pacific Railway "On Wheels." Great as it is, the Canadian Pacific would be the last to appropriate such an appellation. It can be truthfully said, however, that to understand the recent history of the Dominion one must know that of the Canadian Pacific. Now at last comes a volume, well illustrated with photographs, which presents that history in its most pleasing form—that is, in a form emphasizing the human factor. "The Romance of the Canadian Pacific Railway" by R. G. MacBeth (the Brynson Press, Toronto, $2.50).

The author, who has a number of historical works to his credit, is singularly well equipped. Apart from his literary skill, he has the advantage of having lived in the Canadian West all his life. He has always been in close touch with the Canadian Pacific, and he is careful to point out that he has never been connected with it and has written and published his book independently.

Mr. MacBeth here traces the amazing story of the company's development into the world's greatest transportation system; of the stampanis, of the telegraph and express; colonization; irrigation; hotels and bungalow camps; of its war service and of all its activities, with a wealth of interesting detail which illustrates the brilliant administrative and organizing ability of its executive.

Canadian as he is, Mr. MacBeth reminds them, that their country approved the construction of this pioneer transcontinental when the population was only 4,000,000, though the United States had not dared to undertake a similar road till she had ten times that number. The frightful difficulties, political, technical and financial, through which the company's sponsors and founders fought their way to victory are well summarized. For instance, it is recalled that sections of the line north of Lake Superior cost $500,000 a mile to build, and a mucking out of Winnipeg swallowed seven tracks before it was conquered. The author shows that the triumph and accomplishment of the work was especially creditable because it took place in a period of immense depression.

Sir William Van Horne, general manager and later president, that man of tireless energy, vision and determination, is the central figure in the volume and there are many anecdotes illustrating his versatile character. But all the other great men of the company—Mount Stephen, Shaughnessy, Beatty, Angus and a host of others—receive their due. Lord Shaughnessy's fine words: "The shareholders and directors of the company have always been impressed with the idea that the interests of the company are inseparably connected with those of the Dominion and no effort or expense has been spared to help in promoting the development of the whole country" are amply backed by the company's deeds. And the author makes a statement which is very a propos when he says: "The country and the railway, in such a case as this, must stand or fall together. Each is necessary to the prosperity of the other. Hence for us to attempt the destruction of the other is to invite a roundabout but effective way for that one to commit suicide."

Grain shipments into Edmonton from the most northerly sections of Alberta in which grain is raised for the outside market, have amounted to more than 1,000,000 bushels since September 1. This is significant as a few years ago not a bushel of grain was grown in these areas for export.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

Copyrighted, 1912, by Rafael Sabatini
"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Viagage plot with T. Warren Kennerly in the title role, is on stages of the following series:

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young physician, dressed in a sailor, gentlemanly fashion, who was walking in the opposite direction. Miss Arabella drew rein. "I think I know you, sir," said she. Her voice was crisp and bright. It was a voice that, at once, a directness, which disdained the artifices of her sex, and set her on good terms with all the world. To this it may be said that Miss Arabella had reached the age of five and twenty not merely unmarred but unwooed. The stranger came to a standstill upon being addressed. "A lady should know her own property," said he. "My property?" "Your uncle's last will," I call it, Peter Blood.

She recognized him then. She had heard that this rebel-convict had been discovered by the physicians. Governor Stead, who suffered damnably from food, had borrowed the fellow from his purchase. Blood had been ordered the Governor's relief, and the Governor's lady had destroyed him by his purchase. There came a chuckle from Governor Stead. "You hear, Colonel. Trust your uncle. Her sex knows a man when it sees one." And he laughed. A cloud of annoyance swept across his face. The Colonel's niece. Jeremy Pitt had almost ceased to breathe.

"I'll give you ten pounds for him," said the Colonel at last.

Peter Blood gazed at her, his face taken with surprise. "For no reason that he could have given you," he said with repugnance at the thought of becoming the property of this gross animal, and in some sort the property

"I've received it!" There was a challenge in her boyish voice. "I have had no lack of experience of this mortal life, but to be bought and sold was a new one, and I was hardly in the mood to love my purchaser."

"I'll turn you up my uncle, sir," he said. "I was that commiserated you."

were not natural to that blood; they were, in his case, acquired. Her father, Tom Bishop (that same Colonel Bishop's brother), had been a kindly, cheerful, gentle soul who, brokenhearted by the early death of a young wife, had abandoned the Old World and sought an antidote for his grief in the new. He had come out to the Antilles, bringing with him his little daughter, then five years of age, and had given himself up to the life of a planter. He had prospered from the first, and in three years was worth nothing for prosperity. Prospering, he had brought him of his younger brother, a soldier, at home, and had something wild. He had advised him to come out to Barbados; and the advice, which at another season William Bishop might have scorned, reached him at a moment when his wealth was beginning to bear such fruit that a change of climate was desirable. William came, and was admitted by his generous brother to a partnership in the prosperous business. Some six years later, when Arabella was fifteen, her father died, leaving her in her uncle's guardianship. As she was then three years older, between uncle and niece, but she was dutiful to him, and he was ever cramped in his behavior before her.

Scott Monument Unsafe

Memorial in Edinburgh Has Been Closed to Public

The monument to Sir Walter Scott, in Princes Street, Edinburgh, described as the finest memorial ever raised to an individual monarch, is unsafe in its highest parts.

Edinburgh Town Council have permanently closed the upper portion to the public.

It would cost thousands for scaffolding to be erected to repair some of the higher stones worth a ton.

The monument, a Gothic structure 200 feet high, is adorned with 21 statues of the most striking of Sir Walter's characters. Under the canopy is a statue of Scott with his favourite dog, Balaena. It was completed at a cost of £18,000.

The designer, a working mason named Kemp, was accidentally drowned in the Union Canal while his masterpiece was in course of construction.

In July of last year an accident was killed by a fall from the monument, the first accident of the kind since the monument was built 60 years ago.

The Montana border was thrown into a fever of excitement last Monday, when news came in of the successful completion of the Albert Archambault oil well, seven miles north and about four miles west of Cutts. The oil is gushing over the top of the derrick, apparently forced up by gas. The flow has not been measured, but experienced oil men who were present when the well was struck, pronounced it one of the best wells in the field.

Here and There
The following apt comment on the various material and immaterial facts came from the Boston Transcript:
"If a freight train at a crossing
"Hits an auto fair and square
"There's the freight train—Where's
"The auto? What?"
"Echo answers 'Where?'"

Trees at the rate of 20,000 a day have been planted by farmers in Western Canada during the last 30 years, according to a report of the Federal Department of Agriculture. A total of 150,000 young trees, the report shows, has been distributed to farmers in that section in 1905.

Canada has entered into negotiations with Germany for a trade agreement which will give her the benefit of the most favored nations agreement. Exports to that country were nearly doubled during 1924 and at the close of the year Germany was practically in the position of being Canada's third best customer.

A co-operative shipment of poultry to New York City, encouraged and handled by the Dominion Poultry Service, Alberta branch, brought good results. The shipment consisted of two refrigerated carloads of turkeys and the shippers received 25 cents a pound for their birds, the New York selling price being 41 cents a pound.

Among the interesting books of the season is "Canada's Great Highway" from the First State to the Last Spike, by J. H. E. Scerban, C.E., (published by Thorburn and Co., Ltd., Toronto). Dealing with the early history of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the volume contains many reminiscences of life in construction days as experienced by the author, who was a member of the company's engineering staff.

Sailing from New York on January 14, the "Empress of France," Canadian Canadian Pacific steamship, began her "round-the-world cruise, which is to last 130 days. The vessel was gallily decked with flags and filled with happy passengers eager to enjoy the experience of a lifetime. F. L. Wanklyn and Mrs. Wanklyn, were among those on board. Mr. Wanklyn recently retired from his position as executive assistant of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The most novel Christmas card handled by the Montreal post office this year was one prepared for the redoubtable Colonel George Han of the Canadian Pacific Railway, by a number of internationally known newspaper artists, creators of famous comic strip characters. In the centre of the card is a photo of the Colonel, while grouped around him, commenting on his good qualities, are signed drawings of Pa. Perkins, Tillie the Tailor and Mack, Marney Google and Spark Plug, Or Gang and Dumb Dore. Colonel Han is naturally very proud of the card.

Silence That Is Not Golden

THE merchant who fails to "speak up" lets a lot golden sales slip past his store. This lost business goes either to his competitor down street or, by the mail order route, to the big city stores.

People are often surprised to find that the goods they bought "unsight unseen" from a catalogue can be seen and examined in the local store!
